Overview:

To some, the GASB is a faceless entity in a faraway land that makes government accountants' lives miserable and never listens to what they say. In reality, the GASB not only thoroughly considers every comment it receives, it wants to hear more from people in the field. The GASB's 40th anniversary in 2024 is an opportune time to get a behind-the-scenes look—from someone who was there for Statements 33 to 101—at how the GASB sets standards, including how it seeks input from government finance officers and other stakeholders and how it analyzes that feedback and incorporates it into GAAP.

Learning Objectives:

- Understand how the GASB identifies the issues it works on
- Be able to identify the major steps in the standards-setting process
- Find out how the GASB solicits public input and how governments can influence the development of standards
- Learn about what resources the GASB provides to support governments and other stakeholders in the understanding and application of GAAP
